Ken Madigans Eulogy

Today we remember and pay tribute to, one of Australia's heroes of WW2, David James Maywald, better known to those who are here today, as simply 'Digger'.

'Digger' was but 20 years of age, when despite being rejected previously by the Army due to heart concerns, he was finally accepted by the 48th. Battalion of the Australian Military Forces on the 16/5/1940.

'Digger' wanted desperately to serve his country on active service and prove he was a good Aussie. On 1/2/1941 he enlisted in the AIF and was posted to the 2/43 Battalion with the serial No. SX11188 and after intense training, embarked for North Africa, landing as reinforcements for the 9th. Division in early May and took part in the famous siege of Tobruk, digging in to the sand and rock of the harsh desert and holding up the advance of the mighty German Africa Corps for many months.

'Digger' was now one of the 'desert rats' of Tobruk and a part of Australia's history.

He lost mates in this battle, many of them falling by his side, the pain of losing them stayed with him to the end, the history books I loaned him about this battle brought back too many sad memories for him to read them.

'Digger' was to be discharged due to ill health and injury, but he refused, preferring to stay with his unit and stand beside his mates.

'Digger' was also at the defining battle of El Alamein, where the Germany Army suffered its first defeat, but at great cost, after the break through on the 5/11/42, his Battalion collected and then buried 105 of their fallen comrades and as a result of this conflict, suffered a total of 365 casualties.

He was attached to the Mortar unit, as a range taker, a generous name for some one brave enough to venture out into no mans land, alone, dig in and identify the target and the range while not attracting too much fire from the enemy!

'Digger' said he enjoyed this, as he always considered himself a loner and if he did it himself, he would know it was done properly!

He arrived back in Australia in March, 1943, for 3 weeks leave before leaving for jungle training and embarking for the War against the Japanese in New Guinea.

While on this brief leave he married his long time sweet heart Nellie in Adelaide on the 10 March, a true war time marriage of two young lovers who could never be sure if they would ever meet again. The wedding dress was made by the family, with the material made available through the generosity of Nellie's sister, who despite preparing to marry her self, but put her Sister first. The marriage lasted 50 years.

"Digger fought in the jungles of New Guinea and took part in the famous battles of Lae, Finschhafen and Sattelberg, relinquishing his job of range finder in the Mortar unit and was then transferred to Intelligence at HQ.

After returning to Australia in 1944 for further training and rest, his Batt. Embarked for Morotai, Borneo and landed on the 16 April 1945 to once again face the Japanese Army.

After serving his country for 1803 days, 1119 of them over seas on active service, he was given an honourable discharge on the 8/1/1946.

Digger became cross when ever I suggested he was a hero, but if he is not a hero, I don't know who is!

He said he enjoyed the Army life, not the marching or saluting, but the comradeship, as it has been said, 'these men were closer than brothers'.

'Digger' continued his distinguished career in the Army reserve, receiving a commission and passing on his vast knowledge to the younger trainee soldiers, he was always a fine teacher.

I extend my sincere condolences to the family and friends, our life today would not have been the same without men and soldiers like 'Digger'.

Notes for Antony John Schrapel:

I am Antony John Schrapel, first and only son of John David Schrapel (documented in your PDF), Who was the first son of Leslie Schrapel, first son of David Schrapel, second son and 7th child of August Johaan Schrapel, first son of Johanna Elenore Maywald and August Freidrich Johaan Schrapel, 2nd son of Gottlob Schrapel, after which our ancestry is unknown. I was born in 1981, in Adelaide, and am married to Yukie Schrapel (formerly Zakimi) from Okinawa japan, who was born in 1977.

And we have a son Saiji August Schrapel who was born 14/7/2014 and is still a cute little baby!

I was confused sometimes about the naming order on some of the historical records. We always referred to 'Johaán August Schrapel' as August, like it was his first name, which it might be, because I think there was a German tradition of naming children's 2nd middle name or middle name after their favorite saint, which was often Saint John (Johaán, or for females Johanna), and naming the first son's first name after the father, and subsequent sons after other family members.

I'm not sure but with this in mind it makes sense to me that August might have been their first names, otherwise there would be dad being Johaán and the first 2 sons also being Johaán, would be very confusing, but possible! haha!,

Well with that in mind and with my son being the 7th generation of eldest sons in the line of August Schrapel and Johanna Elenore Maywald (since Alwin Schrapel, August {2nd}'s 1st son did not have any surviving sons and David was his 2nd son), I gave my son Saiji the middle name of August.

Saiji is the grandson of Saijun Zakimi, and the great grandson of Saishin Zakimi (they use Sai in their names to denote that lineage). Saijun did not have any sons, so we gave our son the Sai in his name to carry on that tradition which was several more generations long I believe.

Antony John Schrapel and Yukie Zakimi had the following child:

- i. SAIJI AUGUST ⁹SCHRAPEL.
